Two old Clowns meet every morning in the park...

... they sit on their bench and they have a look around, they observe and still curious on the evolving of seasons.

... they are poor and alone but their souls still floods of life and imaginations.

They are not sad but melancholy.

... they know that their physicist is not able to conduct them on the stage anymore and this is their only regret.

... but they are still full of imagination, so they can only still dreaming and imaginating

The show is dedicated to the great clown Carlo Colombaioni, our dear friend recently passed away.

The show develops him through a sequence of numbers that tell the life, the loves and the dreams of the two protagonists in a proper comic and poetic show for whatever type of public. The work on the clown is a challenge on which Alexey Merkushev (Jack) and Adriano Miliani (Joe) for a long time are thinking, having had both experiences with great teachers what Slava Polunin, Licedei, Carlo Colombaioni, Olli Haunstein, that more times have pursued them to make this type of show, this year they accept the challenge and they will show their clown.

We specify that all speaking parts of the show can be played in different languages.
